They shall grow not old, as we that are left grow old.
Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn.
At the going down of the sun and in the morning,
We will remember them.

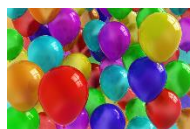

As you have received, so may you be pleased to give.

St Bede's is a living Church and its people are The Church. The Church's only financial support is its own Church family.

Please try to support the social and fundraising events as they are vital not only to the financial wellbeing of our Church, but are great opportunities to get to know one another better.

Your Church thanks you for your gifts of money, time and talents.

Editorial

WE SHALL REMEMBER THEM

Today we remember all those men and women of Britain and the Commonwealth Countries and our Allies who made the ultimate sacrifice in both the 2 world wars and in other conflicts around the world in the service of their country. Today is particularly significant as it marks the centenary of the end of World War 1. This was a truly horrific war which saw massive casualties on both sides. Millions of men, boys and nurses called to serve their country who waved goodbye to their loved ones and never returned and tens of thousands more who were horribly injured both in mind and body, their lives never to be the same again. This was to be "The war to end all wars" and yet only 21 years later after all that carnage, the world was preparing for yet another war which would consume the whole of Europe, the Middle East and the Far East with millions more lives lost not only by service men and women but this time by millions of civilians also. Whilst we remember with respect and gratitude all those who laid down their lives in the service of their country, we certainly do not glorify war. War is horrendous, and the price is paid by service men and women and by civilians.

Since God created us in His image and gave us minds to think and be creative, surely, if we, as the human race, are supposed to be the 'superior species', we would, by now, have worked out a way to live together in harmony and share God's bounty with each other without greed and selfishness.

Our God must feel great pain to see His beautiful earth which He made for us, and the human race which He created, scarred and shattered by constant wars and conflicts. As we remember all those brave service men and women and civilians who have lost their lives in wars and conflicts, we need also to pray for an end to the bloodshed of wars and conflicts, to the end of imperialism, greed and selfishness and pray for a lasting peace.

Sharron.
